SWUFE has long pursued a strategy of "deepening openness," actively serving China's diplomatic agenda and the Belt and Road Initiative while steadily expanding higher education exchanges with Russia.

SWUFE has joined the China-Russia Alliance of Economic Universities and the Yangtze-Volga University Alliance, and established long-term partnerships with Moscow State University, HSE University (National Research University Higher School of Economics), and Siberian Federal University. These partnerships support multi-tiered programs including short-term exchanges, credit recognition, and dual degrees.

Leveraging its strengths in finance, economics, and disciplinary advantages, SWUFE has advanced Sino-Russian research collaboration and joint talent cultivation. Together with Russian partners, the university has co-organized high-level conferences such as the Conference on Globalization Processes. To date, around 400 SWUFE students and faculty have participated in bilateral exchanges. Currently, 120 Russian students are enrolled at SWUFE, making them one of the largest international student groups on campus.

In 2025, the "Belt and Road" High-Level Talent Training Program in Financial Governance, jointly established by SWUFE and HSE University, received funding from the China Scholarship Council (CSC).

Taking the "China-Russia Year of Education" as an opportunity, SWUFE will continue to expand the scope of its educational cooperation with Russia, deepen mutual understanding, and help build a lasting foundation for closer bilateral ties.

On April 24, the College of International Education (CIE) of Southwestern University of Finance and Economics (SWUFE) organized a study tour to Contemporary Amperex Technology Co., Limited (CATL) for more than 30 international students. The visit was part of the "Reading China in Sichuan" cultural practice course series, designed to help international students gain a deeper understanding of the latest developments and innovative achievements in China's high-end manufacturing sector.

At the CATL exhibition hall, students learned about the company's latest technological breakthroughs and global presence in areas such as power batteries and energy storage systems. Many of them noted that the on-site experience gave them a more intuitive and profound understanding of the intelligent and green transformation of "Made in China." They were impressed not only by the strength of China's high-end manufacturing but also by the country's important role in driving the global energy transition. The visit further deepened their understanding of the concept and practice of China's high-quality economic development.

This enterprise visit not only broadened the students' professional horizons but also enhanced cultural exchange and cooperation between the university and the company. CIE will continue to develop the "Reading China in Sichuan" series of practical courses, helping international students experience a real, multi-dimensional, and comprehensive view of China.

当川派盆景遇上世界青年 ——西南财经大学来华留学生实践基地落地崇州 SWUFE International Student Practice Base Launched in Chongzhou, Where Sichuan Penjing Meets the World

📅 6月26日 June 26

6月26日，西南财经大学与崇州市共建“来华留学教育实践基地”揭牌仪式在崇州市观胜镇严家弯湾举行。西南财经大学国际教育学院院长袁松阳、崇州市副市长郑宇，以及我校20余名留学生共同参加活动。

上午，留学生们在严家弯湾开展实地探访，途经何止·云飞修竹与唐安十二景等核心节点，这片川西林盘特有的移步换景之美，给来自不同文化背景的青年们带来了视觉与观念的双重冲击。在唐安十二景园区，500多盆川派地景盆景错落铺陈，其标志性的“三弯九道拐”造型技法，将自然意趣与人工雕琢巧妙结合，令留学生们频频驻足端详。更让他们感兴趣的是，这里并非传统意义上的盆景种植园，而是将盆景艺术与咖啡简餐、休闲消费融合在一起的乡村新业态——传统手艺与当代生活方式在此交汇。揭牌仪式上，观胜镇相关负责人介绍严家弯湾近年来的发展脉络：从林盘生态保护到盆景非遗技艺的活态传承，从产业链延伸再到引入外籍人才参与乡村振兴的探索实践。其中，加拿大籍盆景师、观胜镇盆景村宣传推广大使白熊（Chad Sinclair）作为“新村民”深度参与当地文旅场景营造

的案例，成为留学生们关注的焦点。几位留学生代表也主动上台，用略显生涩但真诚的中文分享了半日来的所见所感——他们坦言，此前对中国乡村的想象多停留在概念层面，而严家弯湾展现出的是一个既保留传统根脉又充满现代活力的真实样本。随后，留学生们与白熊一同开展盆景DIY体验。白熊亲自指导留学生们动手修剪、蟠扎盆景枝条。在指尖与枝干的对话中，这些来自异国的年轻人不仅习得了基本技法，更透过一位跨文化匠人的视角，感受到中国乡村对多元力量的开放与接纳。来自马达加斯加的留学生Rejo在接受采访中说道：“崇州的盆景令人特别震撼，让人着迷。这项体验也教会了我很多道理，制作全程需要高度专注，每一步都要小心翼翼。如此精美的盆景布置在家里或者别的地方，也有着特别珍贵的意义，教会人做事精准细致、处事沉着。”

未来，实践基地将借力严家弯湾初具规模的盆景文旅完整产业链，持续承接西南财经大学来华留学生研学及劳动实践活动，带领海外青年走进乡村田野，在沉浸式产业体验与乡土生活中读懂中国式现代化的生动实践。

On June 26, a ceremony was held in Yanjia Wanwan, Guansheng Town, Chongzhou, to inaugurate the "Practice Base for International Education" jointly established by the Southwestern University of Finance and Economics (SWUFE) and Chongzhou City. The event was attended by Dean Yuan Songyang of SWUFE's College of International Education (CIE), Vice Mayor Zheng Yu of Chongzhou, and over 20 international students from the university.

In the morning, the students explored Yanjia Wanwan, passing through key scenic spots including "Hezhi Yunfei Xiuzhu" and the "Tang'an Twelve Scenes." The unique beauty of the western Sichuan forest-farmland landscape left a strong impression on these young visitors from diverse cultural backgrounds. At the Tang'an Twelve Scenes garden, over 500 Sichuan-style penjing (miniature landscapes) were displayed, featuring the iconic "three bends and nine turns" shaping technique—a masterful blend of natural charm and artistic craftsmanship that drew frequent stops and close looks from the students. What intrigued them even more was that this is not a conventional penjing plantation, but a new rural business model combining penjing art with coffee, light meals, and leisure—where traditional craftsmanship meets contemporary lifestyles.

At the unveiling ceremony, a local official outlined the development of Yanjia Wanwan in recent years, from ecological conservation of the forest-farmland to the living preservation of penjing as intangible cultural heritage, from supply chain expansion to the introduction of foreign talent in rural revitalization. Among these, the story of Chad Sinclair (known as "White Bear"), a Canadian penjing artist and promotion ambassador for Guansheng Town's penjing village, drew particular interest from the students. Several student representatives took the stage, sharing their impressions of the visit in sincere—though slightly tentative—Chinese. They admitted that their previous image of rural China had been mostly abstract, but Yanjia Wanwan presented a real model that preserves its traditional roots while embracing modern vitality.

After the ceremony, students joined Mr. Sinclair for a hands-on penjing DIY session. Under his guidance, they tried their hand at trimming and shaping penjing branches. Through this tactile engagement with the plants, the young international learners not only picked up basic techniques but also experienced, through the eyes of a cross-cultural craftsman, the openness of China's countryside to diverse talents and perspectives.

Rejo, a student from Madagascar, shared in an interview: "The penjing in Chongzhou is truly stunning and fascinating. This experience also taught me a lot—every step requires intense focus and care. Such exquisite miniature landscapes, whether placed at home or elsewhere, carry profound value. They teach you to be precise, patient, and composed."

Looking ahead, the practice base will leverage Yanjia Wanwan's well-established penjing cultural tourism industry chain to host ongoing study and hands-on programs for SWUFE international students. By bringing young people from around the world to rural fields and immersing them in real-life industry experiences and local life, the base aims to help them better understand the vibrant practice of Chinese-style modernization.

JAMES GOH CHOON LING– Bachelor Graduate from School of Business Administration, Class of 2022

2022 级工商管理学院毕业生 JAMES GOH CHOON LING

My SWUFE Experience

My name is James Goh, and I come from a small Southeast Asian nation called Brunei. Studying at SWUFE was a lifetime experience that I will forever hold dear. I spent three years in Chengdu completing my bachelor's degree there. Looking back, it feels like a blessing in disguise. I enrolled with a singular goal in mind: to study Supply Chain Management. After researching, I discovered that SWUFE is ranked in the top 5 for this major in China, so I applied immediately.

I encountered many individuals throughout those three years. While I am grateful to still keep in touch with some, others are people I may never cross paths with again. Regardless, I am thankful for the wonderful memories they helped shape on this journey. The school is incredibly international; living in the dorm was probably the most diverse environment I have ever experienced. I met people from every continent—Colombia, Ecuador, Venezuela, the USA, Italy, France, Poland, the UK, Russia, Ghana, Nigeria, Saudi Arabia, Yemen, Uzbekistan, Kazakhstan, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Pakistan, Thailand, Indonesia, New Zealand, and so on. It was truly amazing.

I still miss the long walks to class, lined with plane trees on both sides. I loved watching them blossom in the spring and stand bare in the winter.

There were also numerous activities organized by the school. We had opportunities to volunteer for short-term exchange programs during summer and spring, go on cultural and company visits around the city, and participate in team-building activities on campus.

Life in Sichuan as a student

Chengdu is a very welcoming city. As a "New First-Tier City," it has a vibrant modern vibe mixed with deep history, but honestly, it was only during my final year that I truly realized how beautiful it was. When I first arrived, I was too focused on studies, but later I learned to slow down.

Whenever I needed a break from academics, I found comfort in the food. There was always a delicious, mouth-numbing mala hotpot around the corner. I remember going there to eat and sweat my stress out.

My weekends were often spent exploring different sides of the city. Sometimes we would head to the city center for fancy shopping at 太古里 or visit the Giant Panda Base. Other times, we preferred walking along 玉林路 just to find a nice bar or café. I have memories of walking around 金融城 area just to see the lights of SKP and 双子塔. When I wanted quiet, I found a historical vibe at 武侯祠 and 文殊院.

During holidays, I tried to venture further. I went to 青城山 to enjoy breathtaking views and saw the mind-blowing engineering of 都江堰. As a fan of 武侠小说, visiting 峨眉山 was a dream come true. I also managed to travel further to 四姑娘山, 毕棚沟, and 达古冰川. I know I barely scratched the surface of what Sichuan has to offer, but the memories I made there are enough to last a lifetime.

Current life

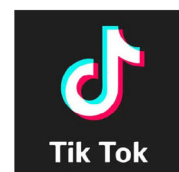

I've brought all these beautiful memories, along with the solid academic foundation SWUFE gave me, to Shenzhen, where I'm currently pursuing a master's degree in Enterprise Management. In this next chapter, I'm focusing on gaining practical industry experience and hope to continue building my career here in China. Beyond my own growth, I simply want to share what I've learned with my friends and network back in Brunei. Hopefully, the insights I've gained here can open up new opportunities for us all.
